Report: Carrer Opportunity in Merchant Navy by Executive Ship Management Pvt. Ltd., Singapore

A session on Carrer Opportunity in Merchant Navy was held on 11th February 2026 in the CCG&D Hall, Integral University, Lucknow, for the students of B. Tech-Mechanical Engineering (Batch 2026/2027) by Executive Ship Management Pvt. Ltd., Singapore with 17 students in attendance.

The session was conducted by Mr. Gaurav Bansal (Sr. Manager – HR), from Executive Ship Management Pvt. Ltd., Singapore. He provided a detailed overview of the company’s ship-management operations and highlighted its strong training ecosystem through the renowned Samundra Institute of Maritime Studies (SIMS). Mr. Bansal explained the Graduate Engineer Trainee (GET) role, the three-month initial training structure, remote work model, and the eligibility requirements including academic criteria, DG Shipping medical standards, and the importance of being free from colour blindness. He also briefed students that after recruitment, candidates will undergo a one-year GME (Graduate Marine Engineering) training program, after which they will appear for the CDC (Continuous Discharge Certificate) examination, marking the beginning of their professional seafaring journey.

The session further covered life at sea, safety regulations, global exposure, and the long-term career pathway in marine engineering. Students were informed that upon successful completion of training phases and qualifying exams, they would progress toward becoming a Class I Marine Engineer, ultimately aiming for the prestigious rank of Chief Engineer on board international merchant vessels.

The session was coordinated by Mr. Mohammad Shahnawaz (Senior Manager-Corporate Relations CCG&D).

The interactive Q&A segment allowed students to clarify doubts regarding training, examinations, and professional growth. The event concluded positively, with students showing strong enthusiasm for the career opportunities discussed.
