Prof. Mahadeva Lal Schroff

Father of Pharmacy Education in India

(March 6th, 1902 - August 25th, 1971)

Prof. Mahadeva Lal Schroff, the Father of Pharmacy Education in India, played a pivotal role in shaping the field and inspiring generations of pharmacists. His visionary leadership led to the establishment of India's first M.Pharm. program in 1940 at Banaras Hindu University (BHU), laying the foundation for structured pharmaceutical education nationwide.

In recognition of his immense contributions, the Pharmacy Council of India (PCI) has designated March 6, his birth anniversary, as "National Pharmacy Education Day", honoring his legacy in advancing pharmacy education and the profession in India.

About Pharmacy Council of India

The Pharmacy Council of India (PCI) is a statutory body under the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, Government of India, established under the Pharmacy Act, 1948. Its primary mandate is to regulate pharmacy education and oversee the professional practice of pharmacy in the country, ensuring adherence to quality standards and ethical practices.

The highly qualified and experienced staff is committed to impart the knowledge and skills in diverse fields like drug design, drug development, natural product research and pharmacy practice to prepare future health care leaders.

About Event

Recognizing India's vast potential in pharmaceutical research, the Pharmacy Council of India (PCI) has launched a significant initiative to promote academic research and global recognition of the field. This effort is not only about acknowledgment but also about fostering innovation and inspiring more minds to contribute to the field.

Pharma Anveshan is a clarion call for academicians, researchers, and industry professionals to unite, exchange knowledge, and drive transformative advancements in the pharmaceutical sector. The event facilitates networking, sharing ideas, and exposure to emerging trends, ultimately bridging the gap between academia and industry.

By strengthening synergies and leveraging expertise, Pharma Anveshan aims to drive pharmaceutical advancements and reinforce India's role as the "Pharmacy of the World." Together, let us collaborate, innovate, and elevate to shape a healthier future!
