Dear All,

Amongst the developing nations, India is the fastest growing economies and one of the largest systems of higher education. The statistics claim that "India will be the youngest nation of the world by 2030, nearly 140 million" population with an eligible age for higher education; and will have produced as many as graduates to constitute about 1/4th of the graduates of the world. In this content it is pertinent to mention that the recently announced National Education Policy (NEP 2020) sets the target of raising the Gross Enrolment Ratio (GER) in Higher Education from 28% at the present to 50% by 2035. To be responsive to the needs of the changing world, higher education institutes bank upon their academic leaders, to make a difference in the quality of education, lives of the faculty, staff, students and the community that it serves. To discuss and explore the academic leadership for higher education and current academic leadership practices in Institutional Building, Faculty of Commerce and Management is organizing One Day National Webinar on Academic Leadership and Institution Building: Some Reflections.

The theme of the Webinar are:

1. Academic Leadership and Higher Education
2. Current and Expected Academic Leadership Practices in Institution Building
3. Role of Academic Leaders in Promoting Higher Education Institutions
4. Question answer session
