A Brief Report on Extension Activity organized by the Department of Bioengineering on Malnutrition among Children & Pregnant Women

Department of Bioengineering collaborated with National Service Scheme (NSS) for organizing an extension activity on Malnutrition among Children & Pregnant Women on March 04 2023, at Behta Village, Lucknow which is a great way to live a healthy life. This activity was in alliance with “Pradhanmantri Poshan Yojna”. Maintaining proper health and nutritional status while gestation and childhood is important. Proper nutrition is helpful in developing immunity and can prevent the spread of diseases and infections. If every pregnant maintains good health, the offspring would eventually will be a healthy individual and the health of the female is also necessary for overall development of family and nation.

The aim of this program was to increase the awareness among under privileged women. BMI and BMR of the children and pregnant ladies were measured by the students Department of Bioengineering. Many doubts and myths about eating habits were demystified by students. The students had actively participated to conduct the cultural activity at primary school Behta, Lucknow. Candies distribution was carried out after the activity. The idea was to raise awareness about the importance of health for a healthy mind which leads to a healthy attitude. The program was coordinated by Ms. Poonam Sharma, Assistant Professor, Department of Bioengineering, NSS Program Officer, Integral University. In this activity, 152 students; 66 male and 86 female students participated. The response from the audience was quite overwhelming.
